Product information

We offer two high-quality stretcher options designed for safe and comfortable patient transfer from incident scenes—such as buildings or construction sites—to secure locations.

- These stretchers are built to support emergency response and workplace safety, especially in environments where quick evacuation is essential. For multi-level buildings, having appropriate evacuation equipment is critical, particularly where stairways must be used instead of lifts.

Equipping your site with reliable stretchers helps ensure compliance with workplace safety regulations and supports the safe evacuation of injured or immobile individuals.
